'Do Something Beautiful': The Early Response

Two years on from the release of the best-seller 'What Grace' the latest album from Graham Kendrick 'Do Something Beautiful', unites generations and lifts the hearts of the listener towards God through Christ centered songs of hope, encouragement and teaching. Early feedback from those involved suggests that this latest phase for Graham looks set to be the most exciting yet.

Featuring duets with Soul Survivor's Tim Hughes and Hillsong's Darlene Zschech, Do Something Beautiful has left the first of what is bound to be many marks on those who come into contact with it. Says Darlene Zschech:

"It has been an absolute honour to take part in this project – my respect for Graham and his unparalleled commitment and contribution to worship and worshippers continues to teach and inspire me to know and love Jesus more."

Tim's reaction to working alongside Graham was similar:

"It was a wonderful experience to work with Graham on this worship album. Having grown up playing his songs and having been influenced by all he has done, it was a real privilege to join with him and work together. His humility and heart for God was a real inspiration - something of which I'm sure will be captured on this album."

"Every song I've ever seen of Graham's" says Matt Redman "seems to be crammed full of poetic, divine, biblical truth."

For Martin Smith, working with Graham on What Grace? brought back some powerful memories:

"I was a 12-year-old boy when I walked into the big top at Spring Harvest for the first time. I can still remember the feeling of electricity passing through my body as I heard the music belting out from the stage and hearing 5000 people singing their hearts out: 'Shine, Jesus, Shine.' I knew at that moment that this is what I wanted to do with my life."

Graham will be appearing at this year's Spring Harvest conferences as well as headlining a 12 date tour of Cathedrals throughout the United Kingdom between March 6th and 29th. Finally, the

Do Something Beautiful Tour will take in further venues around the country from 29th to the 16th June.
